Pressing the orange START ONLINE ACCESS button will allow you to quickly view your credit score, report, and history to quickly assess your profile and prevent any surprises from occurring.

HOWEVER, due to a recent Equifax's rework, you are no longer able to print a full consolidated version of your credit report, which is what is necessary for real estate transactions. Follow one of the two options below to workaround this issue:

1. Printing the Online Version

Once your account has been created and logged into, you will be directed to the homepage.

The left menu will direct you between pages of your credit report. Click on Credit Score.

Once you are at the Credit Score page, Right-Click anywhere on a blank area of the screen to pop-up this menu and click Print.

Choose whether to print a physical copy or a PDF version of your credit report and click the blue Print button.

Choose whether to print a physical copy or a PDF version of your credit report and click the blue Print button.

2. Receiving via Mail

To obtain a full consolidated report through mail, click on either of the grey GET STARTED buttons from the first page to receive your full report by mail.

You will be prompted to complete a PDF through either online or physical means. Once completed and delivered, you will receive a full report in the mail within 10 business days after an electronic request or 20 business days after a postal request.

Note: If after the above time has elapsed and your credit report has not arrived, please contact the number below. You will need your ticket number sent to your email.
